

The Arts Society Midhurst
A mid-winter teatime
Zoom lecture

Thursday, 11th January 2024 starting at 5.00pm

Hans Holbein the Younger at the Tudor Court

This lecture is designed to complement the major exhibition Holbein at the Tudor Court, showing at the Queens Gallery, Buckingham Palace, London.

LECTURE: This major exhibition presents a rare opportunity to view more than 100 works by Holbein from Henry VIII's court. including drawings, paintings, miniatures and book illustrations by the artist and will tell the stories of his sitters through the portraits he created. Many of these works cannot be on permanent display for conservation reasons, but the exhibition will give visitors the rare opportunity to come face-to-face with some of the key figures of the Tudor court, from Anne Boleyn to Sir Thomas More.

This Zoom lecture is designed to enhance the enjoyment and understanding of those wishing to visit the exhibition on their own, with friends or a part of a group. It also aims to provide an opportunity to learn about Holbein, to put his approach to portraiture into context and reveal more about the intriguing characters known to us through Tudor history

Lecturer: Jane Choy Thurlow is a docent and enjoys giving lectures and tours at the Mauritshuis, Prince William V gallery and Huygens Museum Hofwijck in The Hague.

She received her BSc from Salem State University, USA, her MEd from Trinity College Dublin and continued art history studies at Leiden University. In 2018, she was given the Order of Knight of the Order of Orange Nassau by the Dutch King Willem Alexander of Orange for her knowledge and work in the field of 15th - 17th century Arts. Her knowledge of Holbein's paintings is impressive and her talk is designed to enhance the viewer's understanding of Holbein's works.

To join the Zoom lecture please email Bridget Adler at tasm.membership@gmail.com Price £7.50 payable to The Arts Society - preferably by BACS 20-20-65 - 00295604 - please use your name as a reference. Once you have paid, you will be sent the zoom access code on the 7th January 2024